

The Declaration of Independence

Adopted in Congress at Philadelphia, July 4, 1776

Name _____

Date _____

Page 2 of 50

About this text. Authored primarily by Thomas Jefferson, this foundational charter declared the legal and philosophical basis of self-governance. Practice uniform 76° slant and continuous stroke connections.

M Read the model

T Trace over the gray letters

W Write it on your own, starting at the green dot

M When in the Course of human events,

T When in the Course of human events,

W

M it becomes necessary for one people to

T it becomes necessary for one people to

W

M dissolve the political bands which have

T dissolve the political bands which have

W

M connected them with another, and to

T connected them with another, and to

W

☐ Even slant ☐ Letters touch the lines ☐ Smooth joins

PrintCursive.com · U.S. Civics Cursive Workbook

The Declaration of Independence (continued)

Adopted in Congress at Philadelphia, July 4, 1776

Name _____

Date _____

Page 3 of 50

Read the model

Trace over the gray letters

Write it on your own, starting at the green dot

M

assume among the powers of the earth,

T

assume among the powers of the earth,

W

the separate and equal station to which

T

the separate and equal station to which

W

M

the Laws of Nature and of Nature's

T

the Laws of Nature and of Nature's

W

M

God entitle them, a decent respect to the

T

God entitle them, a decent respect to the

W

The Declaration of Independence (continued)

Adopted in Congress at Philadelphia, July 4, 1776

Name _____

Date _____

Page 4 of 50

Read the model

Trace over the gray letters

Write it on your own, starting at the green dot

M

opinions of mankind requires that they

T

opinions of mankind requires that they

W

•

M

should declare the causes which impel

T

should declare the causes which impel

W

•

M

them to the separation.

T

them to the separation.

W

•

W

•

W

•

W

•

☐ Even slant ☐ Letters touch the lines ☐ Smooth joins

PrintCursive.com · U.S. Civics Cursive Workbook